Police pledge on yobs crackdown

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

POLICE have vowed to clamp down on yobs who hang around a late-night sandwich bar.

The Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team has made its number one priority tackling anti-social behaviour in and around Subway in the town's Ehringshausen Way.

The fast food outlet, which opened a year ago near the town's cinema complex, is open until midnight Monday to Saturday and has become a focus for a group of youths.

There were two incidents in the area on Saturday night. In one, a man was assaulted by a group of youths in a car park in nearby Cangle Road and around 90 minutes later a 14-year-old boy was assaulted in Ehringshausen Way. Police believe the two incidents are linked.

Sergeant Sarah Bartley, from Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team, said: "We have been made aware of anti-social behaviour occurring outside a food outlet on Ehringshausen Way, including verbal abuse and hanging around outside the shop during the early evenings of the week.

"As a result we are carrying out high visibility patrols and liaising with St Edmundsbury Borough Council, the landlords of the property to improve security measures.

More help to combat poverty

A NEW charity has been launched to help people with money and debt problems.

REACH, run by church groups in the Haverhill area, will bring together food and furniture banks as well as offering other support for people facing poverty.

Richard Howitt, Suffolk Euro MP, launched the charity at the Lime Grove food bank in the town. He said: "I am honoured to be able to launch this new charity REACH that will bring under one roof real help for local people.

"European Year of Action Against Poverty should serve as a reminder for us all to renew our efforts to help those battling money problems and struggling to put food on the table.

"Too many people in our communities are living in poverty. The help being offered by REACH can make the difference to families facing tough times who often feel isolated with nowhere to turn."

Police link two assaults

A MAN and a boy were injured in two attacks on the same night.

The man suffered minor facial injuries when he was assaulted by a group of youths in a car park in Cangle Road, Haverhill, at around 8pm on Saturday.

The attack is being linked with an assault on a 14-year-old boy about an hour and a half later on a footpath at Ehringshausen Way in the town. The boy suffered minor head injuries.

His attacker is described as a man of about 5ft 7in tall and of slim build.

He was wearing a black hooded top, black trousers and black trainers.

He spoke with an eastern European accent and had been seen in the area for about an hour.

Police are linking the two incidents and anyone with information should call Pc Carl Brandwood, of Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crime-stoppers 0800 555111.

Stone boots go on walkabout

TWO stone boot garden ornaments have been stolen from neighbouring front gardens.

They were stolen from Chapelwent Road, Haverhill, between 10am last Thursday and 1pm the following day.

Anyone with information should call Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Alternatively, call Crime-stoppers on 0800 555111.

Marathon debut for Trudi

FACTORY worker Trudi Morrish will raise money for a day centre for the elderly when she runs in this year's London Marathon.

Trudi, 37, of Montfort Court, Haverhill, said: "I wanted to do something for a local charity and the day centre here in Haverhill does a lot of good work. "My granddad became quite poorly and needed extra care and the day centre was able to help. We're all going to get old one day." Trudi, who works for Marchant Manufacturing in Haverhill, will be tackling her first marathon although she has previously run in half-marathons and was a member of Haverhill Running Club. She appealed for sponsors to help her raise as much as possible for the centre. Anyone wishing to pledge money should call the day centre on (01440) 707714.

Loose husky led to death of lambs

THE owner of a dog which caused the deaths of two lambs has been ordered to keep it under control.

Tina Cole, 54, admitted her husky called Oscar was not under control when it ran off and chased the lambs in a field at Clare.

Magistrates at Bury St Edmunds ordered her to keep the dog under control and on a lead while in public places.

Cole, of Callis Street, Clare, was also ordered to pay £70 prosecution costs.

Ian Devine, prosecuting, said the lambs were kept as pets by John Knight, of the Mill House at Clare, and were kept in a field near his home.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

He said the incident happened after Oscar ran off while being walked off the lead in the nearby country park.

Mr Devine said the dog did not return home for about two hours.

But he said that Mr Knight saw Oscar in the stream near his home with three lambs – one managed to climb out and back into the field but two others died – one of them had drowned.

Mr Devine said Cole had offered to pay Mr Knight £120 – the value of the two lambs – but he decided to report the matter to the police.

Cole told the court that Mr Knight initially accepted the cash and then gave it back saying he wanted the dog destroyed because he felt it was dangerous.

She said the dog was normally well-behaved but added: "When he gets close to sheep he just wants to chase them. I don't think he bit them."

"I'm sorry for the poor little lambs. I haven't taken him to the park since it happened."

"I now take him up the fields where there's nothing."

Police outline crime priorities

■ From Page 1

"We are also looking into the possibility of issuing staff with a 'Townlink' radio which will give them a direct link to the police and borough CCTV operators."

The team has previously tackled issues of anti-social behaviour around the town's community football project as well as street drinking in some parts of the town.

The neighbourhood team has set its priorities for the month following a tasking meeting which was open to the public.

The second priority is to help provide "diversionary" activities for young people throughout the town to deflect them from becoming involved in crime and anti-social behaviour.

Talks are taking place with councils and leisure organisations to establish where there are already activities for young people and where more activities are needed.

The third priority is to tackle anti-social behaviour in and around Sorrel Walk in the early evening.

Extra police patrols will be carried out in the affected areas.

Tasking meetings are open to the public who can raise any concerns. The next meeting will be on Thursday, February 11, between 2pm and 3.30pm at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Warning over parking fees

PLANS to increase car parking charges in Haverhill have been criticised by business leaders.

The Haverhill Chamber of Commerce says it would like to see free parking provided for up to an hour instead of the proposed 10p hike on all charges put forward by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The chamber says the price hikes could damage trade in the town centre as parking at the new Tesco store is free for three hours.

Other nearby towns, such as Sudbury, also enjoy free parking.

A report set to go before the council's cabinet says prices at Haverhill's car parks have not changed since 2008 and that "even with the proposed increases, charges will remain low".

Champagne day: the community team and staff celebrate at St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Hospice celebrates Big Lottery windfall

A HOSPICE team which supports patients in their own homes has been boosted with a £316,545 award from the Big Lottery Fund.

The community team from St Nicholas Hospice Care will be able to maintain its service to patients thanks to the cash.

The team has been operating for less than a year and has already supported hundreds of patients and their families in West Suffolk, including the Haverhill, Newmarket and Mildenhall areas.

The hospice at home scheme was set up with the help of the Weekly News, which raised £40,000 thanks to the generosity of readers.

Barbara Gale, chief executive of the Bury St Edmunds-based hospice, said

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

the charity was delighted with the Lottery grant – but warned that it would still be facing a tough year ahead.

She said: "The Community Hospice Team is a vital service, which plays a pivotal role enabling patients to remain in their own homes for as long as possible and still receive dedicated and specialist care.

"So many patients prefer to receive care in their own homes, surrounded by their family, pets and possessions and we believe where possible patients have the right to receive this.

"But while this grant is so wonderful and welcome, it only equates to less than a month of our annual operating costs of £4.8million.

"We are still anticipating a challenging financial year for the hospice and we still very much need the support of the entire community."

The grant will help pay for training of volunteers to support the work of the team. As well as offering support to patients, they will also play a crucial befriending role for the benefit of family and friends as they come to terms with the death of their loved one.

Trevor Farrington, head of the Community Hospice Team, said: "We are overjoyed at receiving this award from the Big Lottery Fund.

"The Community Hospice Team has been a great success since it was launched in March 2009 helping patients, where possible, remain at home in the final weeks of their life."

Charity given reprieve

A HAVERHILL charity threatened with closure has won a temporary reprieve thanks to a generous mystery donor.

Haverhill Association of Voluntary Organisations (HAVO) had looked set to fold after it revealed in November that it needed £15,000 more to keep going.

It follows the loss of two significant funding streams, while financial constraints at St Edmundsbury Council has meant it is unable to increase its annual grant of £9,000 to the charity.

But an unnamed donor has pledged to make a £6,000 donation to the charity – allowing it to continue until March.

Project co-ordinator Michael Simpkin is calling on shops, offices and factories to place collection boxes in their premises, where old mobile phones and currency no longer in circulation can be deposited. If you wish to make a donation to HAVO, call (01440) 714641.

Big freeze leads to plea for more grit bins

A COUNCIL is considering requests for grit bins following the recent snow and ice.

Haverhill Town Council is being asked to provide bins to allow residents to treat the footpaths in their own areas.

More than 50 bins would be needed at a cost of more than £7,000 – including the grit.

But the council has previously ruled out providing bins throughout the town.

Since 2000 it has paid for two. One was stolen but the second was sited in a residents' garden.

Last winter the council ruled out paying for grit bins, but the more recent severe weather has led to more complaints about slippery paths.

Suffolk County Council has said it would not normally grit unclassified roads, but they will fill up containers for residents to do the job themselves.

A report by town clerk Gordon Mussett said that more than 50 bins would be needed to satisfy demand in the town.

He suggested that the plastic bins should be supplied with grit when they are delivered to stop them from blowing away.

The council currently has no budget for the bins, but Mr Mussett said that the council could provide a certain number each year to priority areas.

Some residents have even offered to make a contribution towards the cost of the bins.

The town council's community first committee will consider the issue at its meeting on Tuesday.

Huge day for young Gunner

A YOUNG Arsenal fan will meet some of his heroes when he is the official mascot at Sunday's FA Cup match at Stoke.

Sam Street, 11, who plays for Haverhill Rovers Under 12s in the Cambs A League, was chosen in a random draw to be the official Arsenal mascot for the fourth-round tie at Stoke's Britannia Stadium.

The Parkway Middle School pupil has been a Junior Gunner for eight years and was selected from the thousands of members of the Junior Gunners.

His day will include meeting manager Arsene Wenger and the Arsenal players in the dressing room before the game as well as performing all of the pre-game mascot duties.

Sam's father Greg said: "The only downside is that we have been told that the mascot is the only one allowed into the dressing room before the game.

"I am an Arsenal season ticket holder and have been an Arsenal supporter all my life and that is one rule I hope they overlook."

Mr Street, of Martins Mews, Haverhill, said: "I think Sam was the most excited I've seen an 11-year-old boy when he got the letter saying he had been selected as the mascot."

Excited: Sam Street, chosen to be the official mascot for Arsenal on Sunday.

Fewer drivers fail the seasonal test

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

FEWER drink-drivers were caught in Suffolk police's Christmas and New Year campaign.

A total of 95 people failed breath tests during December out of a total of 1,416 tests given. The results across the county showed an average of three motorists caught each day during the campaign.

The numbers are lower than the previous year when 310 positive tests were recorded out of a total of 3,858 motorists tested – equivalent to 10 a day over the limit.

The percentage of drivers over the limit in the most recent campaign was 6.7 per cent compared to 8 per cent the previous year.

A higher percentage of drivers over the age of 65 tested positive than those under 25.

Chief Inspector Mike Bacon, of the county's roads policing unit, said: "It is encouraging that the overall percentage of those drink driving has reduced. However these statistics are still too high.

"Those offending need to realise the implications of what they are doing, not just for their own sake but for the sake of the other innocent road users they are putting at risk."

Schools celebrate latest successes

BY STEPHEN EXLEY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HIGH-FLYING students have shown they are top class by excelling in the latest exam results.

Newly-published tables, based on 2009 A-level and GCSE results, show Cambridgeshire was ranked 32nd out of almost 140 local authorities for GCSE scores, with 56.2 per cent of youngsters getting at least five A* to C-grades at GCSE, including English and maths.

And the county's sixth-formers fared even better, giving the county 22nd best results in the country at A-level.

A spokesman for Cambridgeshire County Council said: "This is continuing proof of the ongoing commitment and dedication of Cambridgeshire's teachers and pupils in keeping the county so high in the national rankings."

A number of schools also enjoyed individual success.

Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill was also named among the top improvers, despite also being listed in the 200 worst performing schools in the country.

Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill was named one of the top 100 schools for its contextual value added rating – the progress made by students between the age of 11 and taking their GCSEs.

Hills Road Sixth Form College in Cambridge was placed among the top 200 schools of all types for its A-level results, along with independent city neighbours The Perse School for Girls and The Perse School.

And Hills Road also featured in the top 200 state schools for its A-level scores.

Linda Sinclair, college principal, said: "I am delighted with Flying high: pupils from Castle Hill and Castle Manor celebrate the results. They are pictured with the Schools House Cup from 1925. the results, which underpin the college's standing in the latest national attainment tables, results which strongly reflect and reward the commitment and ability of students, staff and partner school colleagues."

Tricia Kelleher, principal at The Perse School for Girls, welcomed her students' success – but criticised the inconsistency of league tables.

She said: "Last year we decided to withdraw from the league tables we could withdraw from, but we have to be included in these official Government ones.

"I think the fact we are high up there for A-levels and yet we are nowhere in the GCSE tables shows how nonsensical league tables are.

"I'm delighted the students have got such good results, and I think it's a reflection of the hard work they put in."

The Leys School in Cambridge was ranked 32nd in the country for its GCSE results, with 100 per cent of students getting at least five at grade C or better, including English and maths, and students getting an impressive average point score of 587.5.

Man hurt in road attack

A MAN in his 30s suffered minor facial injuries in an "altercation" with another driver.

The road rage incident happened at a roundabout on the A1307 at Haverhill at around 1.30pm on Monday.

The victim later saw his doctor for treatment.

Anyone with information about the incident should call Pc Carl Brandwood at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

OAP bailed after denying charge

A PENSIONER has denied "propositioning" a teenage girl at a bus stop.

Terance Turner, 66, is accused of causing harassment, alarm or distress by his behaviour between October 1 and December 1.

Turner, of Horsham Close, Haverhill, is alleged to have spoken inappropriately to the girl at the bus stop on three occasions.

He denied the charge when he appeared before magistrates at Bury St Edmunds.

He was released on bail and the case was adjourned for a trial to be held at the court on April 9.

Young lads a great help

Sir, I would like to publicly thank the three or four young lads from Castle Manor School who helped me get the bins in on Wednesday. I am in my 70s and had been to hospital to see my husband and I was struggling to get our neighbour's bins in as well. I have to drag them up some steps and there were four bins.

These lads came along and said: "Can we help you?"

I would just like to let people know that youngsters do good things as they get blamed for a lot of things. I also want to thank the Co-op pharmacy for their service. Particularly in this bad weather where they have delivered prescriptions. Their service has been marvellous.

Tiny tots hungry for more stories

Sir, Through your paper please can I thank Suffolk County Council (SCC) Libraries and the staff at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

Last week, Stepping Stones took 35 children to the arts centre to see The Hungry Caterpillar. The children walked to the arts centre (on a snowy day) and a fantastic time was had by all.

This was all laid on by SCC and was free to pre-schoolers. What a great time it was. We sang songs, played instruments and had a story with props. The children have not stopped talking about it and even ask can we go again!

All the children got a free toy caterpillar and a book of The Hungry Caterpillar.

I just wanted to say a really big thank you to all involved.

Thanks to the parents of the children for letting us all experience this.

Thanks to kind shopping helper

Sir, May I, through your paper, extend my thanks to the lady in the Iceland store in Haverhill on Monday morning who, on hearing that I could not have the home delivery slot that was convenient to me, not only drove me to my home but also carried my shopping up four flights of steps to my flat.

Such kindness to a complete

Help region shine at Games

AN Olympics co-ordinator is being sought to ensure Cambridgeshire makes the most of its involvement in the 2012 Games.

The part-time role, which is currently being advertised by Cambridgeshire County Council, offers a salary of £30,738 to £33,874 pro rata per annum for 22 hours of work per week.

As the Olympic Games approach – and there are less than 1,000 days to go – the search has got under way for a "skilled, clear communicator" who will act as an advocate for 2012 ac-ivities in the region.

A spokesman for the council said: "The county already has an excellent programme of sporting and cultural activities in place for this year, and with the Mozambique Olympic team already committing itself to staying here in Cambridgeshire for pre-games training, activity is only going to increase.

"The Olympiad co-ordinator role, which is fixed-term, is going to be essential. It will help bring together all the partners who are working to make sure that the county benefits from all the opportunities associated with the games, and also that we have the strongest possible legacy from the games after they have finished."

Several other counties, including Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex, already have people in similar roles.

The post will be based within the council's Community Learning and Development Directorate, in Cambridge.

Applicants must be confident in working with the media and are asked to respond to the advertisement by Friday, January 29.

The successful applicant will "work with partners from diverse sectors at local and regional level, promoting joined-up working and helping to deliver a programme of activities related to the 2012 Olympiad".

The advertisement says the aim is to ensure "long-lasting benefits for the well-being, health, education and skills of [the county's] residents and communities".

The job is for a fixed-term contract until January, 2012, with the possibility of extension until August, 2012. For an informal discussion about the role, contact Mike Hosking on (01223) 727954.

More thefts from cars

POLICE have renewed warnings to motorists about leaving valuable items in parked cars after a further spate of thefts in Haverhill and Clare.

A wallet was stolen from an unlocked Audi A6 parked in Tiberius Close, Haverhill. A Honda FRV parked on a driveway in the same road was also entered by thieves and a Nintendo DS, together with games and an iPod were stolen.

A satellite navigation unit and an MP3 music player were stolen from an unlocked Mazda in Daneum Holt, Clare.

Anyone with information about the thefts, which happened on Sunday night, should call Suffolk police's Crime Investigation Bureau (01473) 613500.

Cable goes in yard raid

COPPER cable and electronic boxes worth a total of £700 have been stolen from the yard of a business.

Two men loaded the items in a white van before driving off from the yard in Homefield Road, Haverhill, between 2.30pm and 2.45pm on Wednesday, January 13.

Call Suffolk police's Crime Investigation Bureau (CIB) on (01473) 613500 with any information.

Burglaries on same road

TWO houses in the same road were burgled on Tuesday morning.

The thieves forced windows at the houses in Taylors Farm Road, Kedington, between 9.30am and 1pm. A DVD player, laptop computer and jewellery was stolen from one of the houses. It was unclear if anything was stolen from the other. Anyone with information should call Det Con Mike Blayney, of Bury St Edmunds CID, on (01284) 774100.

Man on fake gun charge

A MAN is due in court accused of having a fake gun after police were called to a disturbance. Michael Wsol, 27, has been charged with possessing an imitation firearm following a disturbance in Pentlow Hawke Close, Haverhill, on December 6. He has been released on bail to appear before magistrates in Bury St Edmunds on January 28.

Football complex needs cash boost for kick-off

Almost finished: the new community football complex during construction.

EXTRA funding totalling more than £40,000 is needed to complete a community football complex.

The main complex, at Haverhill, is nearing completion, but extra cash is needed to ensure that the facility is used to its full potential.

The town council has been asked to help with the extra cash – either from its own budget or by helping to find other sources of funding.

The biggest chunk of cash is needed to floodlight additional training pitches to start a football school.

The council is being asked to work with the Haverhill Community Football Partnership to try to raise the money from other funding bodies.

But the council may fund two additional floodlights for the practice pitch at a cost of £1,000. The money could come from the youth grants budget, if councillors agree.

The council's community first committee is considering the issue at its meeting on Tuesday.

Among other items needed are a commercial washing machine and dryer, at a cost of £5,250, to launder team kit.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A borehole and pump to provide water for the pitch and cut water bills would cost £8,345.

Councillors are being asked to fund the washing machine and dryer from reserves and make a loan over 10 years to cover the cost of the borehole and pump.

The community first committee will also consider an application for funding from the Haverhill-based Centre for Computing History.

The centre is due to display at this year's Gadget Show Live at Birmingham's NEC in April.

Last year St Edmundsbury Borough Council sponsored the centre's stand to the tune of £10,000.

The Gadget Show is helping with funding the centre's display this year. But around £6,000 is still needed and the council is being asked for £3,000.

The centre has offered to stage a display at the town's arts centre after the show.

Figures 'testament to officers' commitment'

A FALL in crime and drink-related offences over the Christmas and New Year period has been welcomed by police chiefs.

In Suffolk police's western area, which includes Newmarket, Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds, the total number of crimes during December was 1,421 – 101 fewer than the same month in 2008.

The total includes 190 drink-related offences – 16 fewer than the previous year.

Across the county there were 3,720 crimes – a reduction of 111 on the previous year – and alcohol-related offences totalled 496 – 17 fewer than the previous year.

The figures have just been released by the county's force to show the results of its Stay Safe campaign.

Detective Chief Inspector John Perkins, crime manager for the western area, said: "The Christmas and New Year period is always going to be a busy time for police and other emergency services, so it is encouraging that both overall crime and alcohol-related arrests have fallen in West Suffolk.

"This reduction is testament to the hard work and commitment of officers including the Special Constabulary and strong partnership working, and helps to promote feelings of safety for those enjoying a night out in our town centres and public confidence for the whole community."

Hooded yobs spotted breaking into vehicles

HOODIE-wearing yobs stole jewellery boxes from a car and smashed a window in another vehicle.

The jewellery boxes were taken from an unlocked green Lexus car parked in Market Hill, Clare, between 3.30am and 4.30am on Monday.

A holdall was taken from the car and was later seen being thrown out of a silver-coloured Vauxhall Astra which stopped in Nethergate Street.

Two men wearing dark-coloured hooded tops got out of the Vauxhall and were seen looking in the windows of houses before getting back into the car and driving off.

At around 6.30am two men in their 20s wearing hooded tops smashed a window of a blue Seat Toledo in Tasman Road, Haverhill. They walked off along nearby Chalkstone Way.

The two incidents are being linked by the police and anyone with information should contact Pc Dan Steel or Pc Rebecca Gardiner at Haverhill police (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

Glitz and glamour at pupils' awards show

YOUNGSTERS at Linton Infant School received the red carpet treatment when they dressed in their finery for an Oscars award ceremony.

Year 1 pupils made their own golden model Oscars as part of their study of theatre and show-time and these were presented for best acting, singing and performance.

Following an "exclusive" lunch in their classrooms, the glittering gathering of "celebrities" were then invited to join the professional ballroom dance tutor, Graeme Hein-Jones, of Strictly Dance, in the school hall for the traditional Oscar ball.

Golden day: one of the Year 1 pupils collects her Oscar at the awards ceremony.

Healthier future for families

OVERWEIGHT children can join a new fitness programme.

Social enterprise Mend (Mind, Exercise Nutrition, Do It!) is looking for obese and overweight children aged 7 to 13 to take part in a 10-week diet and fitness regime.

The Department of Health revealed last month that one in three children in Cambridgeshire was either overweight or obese.

A limited number of places on the fitness programmes, worth up to £400, are available free of charge.

Kate Underwood, Mend's regional manager, said: "Through our programmes we encourage children to try new things and involve the whole family with ways to make healthier choices and become more active."

"Children become healthier and fitter while their self-esteem and confidence increase greatly."

Support helps in gay list ranking

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SUFFOLK'S police force has improved its ranking in a league table of the top 100 employers for gay, lesbian and bisexual staff.

The force is joint 50th in the annual workplace equality index compiled by Stonewall, the gay equality charity.

The force has risen 34 places up the index since last year.

Organisations are ranked according to criteria which include the implementation of effective equality policies, practical demonstration of good practice in recruitment and mentoring, to how they engage with lesbian and gay staff, customers and service users.

Chief Constable Simon Ash said: "The principles of diversity, inclusion and equality must sit at the heart of any truly modern and forward thinking organisation."

"Rising in the rankings so significantly in two years is a fantastic achievement and a reflection of our commitment to being a supportive employer that values its lesbian, gay and bisexual staff. We aim to create an inclusive working environment for staff, and to provide an inclusive service for all people of Suffolk, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Sgt Steve Wright said: "As the chair of Suffolk Gay Police Association, I am delighted that Suffolk Constabulary has improved its position in the list for the third successive year."

"We have worked hard to ensure the organisation supports members of the gay community. I hope this rating will offer reassurance to the whole community that being gay within Suffolk police will not limit employment opportunities and I hope it will help to build confidence throughout the community that we serve."

The table is topped by computer company IBM with Hampshire police in second place and finance and business services company Ernst and Young in third.

Suffolk County Council is 54th in the table. Cambridgeshire County Council is 90th and Cambridge City Council is 92nd.

Cambridgeshire police does not appear in the top 100.

Council outlines plan for economic recovery

A COUNCIL is inviting views on its action plan to improve the economic prosperity of the area.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which includes the Haverhill area, has drawn up a draft economic action plan and is asking for comments from the public and businesses by March 21.

The council carried out a survey of local businesses last autumn and has concluded that the borough has weathered the recession better than many other places.

The report says that any recovery is likely to be fragile, and the economic action plan sets out the steps the council can take to plan for the recovery and create an environment within which local businesses can flourish.

Many of the steps were suggested by local businesses which contributed to the survey.

They include improving public sector procurement opportunities for businesses, simplifying business support, identifying target sectors, lobbying for improved transport links and encouraging the development of skills locally that are needed by local employers.

Cllr Nigel Aitkens, council cabinet member for economy, said: "We want to make sure that we as a council help shape the future development of this area and respond effectively to the recession so that St Edmundsbury continues to be a prosperous place with a high quality of life.

"This action plan sets out the practical steps we can take to achieve these aims."

Both the action plan and the assessment can be viewed on the council's website at www.stedmundsbury.gov.uk/sebchworkleconassess.cfm.

Planning for better times: Cllr Nigel Aitkens.

Service to lend helping hand to dementia sufferers

NEW services to support dementia sufferers have been announced by Suffolk County Council.

It includes providing more support for sufferers in their own homes.

Cllr Colin Noble, who represents the Rowheath division in the Mildenhall and Newmarket areas and is the county council's portfolio holder for adult and community services, said: "We have been working effectively together with the NHS and others over 18 months to meet the aspirations of the National Dementia Strategy.

"This is already yielding results by delivering services that are making a real difference for people affected by dementia. We are also developing a training programme for approximately 7,000 social care staff within the next five years alongside the private, voluntary and independent sectors to ensure that people are cared for and have the services they need to live well with dementia. This programme will begin in the next few weeks."

Couple hope their tragic loss will help other mums-to-be

'COLE never took his first breath. He opened his eyes, but he never cried – that's the hardest thing, not knowing what he sounded like."

Sitting on her sofa, tightly holding her husband Rob's hand, Gemma Asling-Carthy is talking about her baby son Cole, who died in October, just 15 hours old, after contracting an infection during birth.

The grief-stricken couple couldn't even hold their son until his life support machine had been turned off. With a treasured picture of Cole taking pride of place on the table beside them, Gemma and Rob have found the strength to talk about their precious son to raise awareness of the Group B Streptococcus infection (known as GBS and Strep B), and to help prevent other families from suffering the same heartache.

Strep B is the most common cause of life threatening infections in newborn babies in the UK. Around one third of adults will carry the infection without any problems but it can cause infection in newborn babies before, during or shortly after birth: Cole contracted the infection from Gemma's birth canal during labour.

BY LOUISE MARTIN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Mum to Hayden and Preston, 7 and 3, Gemma hadn't experienced any complications with her previous pregnancies, and had been told she could have Cole at home.

"I'd had a little bit of morning sickness and migraines here and there but it had been the perfect pregnancy," says Gemma, 26. "I'd wanted a home birth from when I had Hayden – this time I'd planned it, but it never happened."

Excited about the pending new arrival to their family, Gemma and Rob were married at Huntingdon register office when Gemma was 39 weeks pregnant. Cole was to be the happy start to their married life together.

After going eight days past her due date with Hayden and nine days late with Preston, Gemma wasn't worried when she passed her due date again, this time by 10 days. Then, on October 8, she went into labour.

When the midwife arrived at the couple's home in Ramsey St Mary's for the planned home birth, Gemma wasn't aware of anything being wrong, and with her contractions just two minutes apart, the arrival of her third son wasn't far away.

"I'd never met the midwife that came out," says Gemma. "It was her first home birth and she was absolutely brilliant."

"I was fine up until the time when she arrived. I was walking around the room and she asked me if I wanted gas and air but I was fine, I just carried on with it and kept walking around."

Despite being able to cope with the labour without any pain relief, Gemma had a high temperature but felt very cold and couldn't stop shivering.

"Apparently feeling cold is the only indicator of the infection," she says. "With Strep B there are no symptoms until you go into labour and your temperature goes up."

As well as Gemma's high temperature, Cole's heart rate was dangerously high so, after explaining the situation by phone to the second midwife who was on her way to the house, an ambulance was called to take Gemma to Hinchingsbrooke Hospital.

"I laid back on the bed while we waited for the ambulance but my back went and I couldn't get up again, so I was stuck on the bed and the contractions slowed down," remembers Gemma. "When I managed to sit up to get into the ambulance, my waters broke."

Cole was born in the ambulance on the way to hospital, three miles from the couple's home. "He was born in a pub car park," says Gemma, smiling to Rob. "We've managed to find that amusing though."

After arriving at Hinchingsbrooke's special care baby unit, Cole was put on a life support machine. "Even at the hospital they didn't know it was Strep B straight away," says Gemma.

"They'd never had it there before," adds Rob, 29. "They said it was asphyxia to begin with and that he had been starved of oxygen and blood to the brain."

Glancing towards the picture of Cole, Gemma says: "He had septicaemia, hypoxic brain injury, which is starvation of blood and oxygen to the brain, and his kidneys and liver were collapsing."

"He was going to be transferred to Norwich Hospital for a cooling treatment, so instead of an incubator to keep him warm he would have been placed on a cooling pad, which would cool his body and his brain."

Gemma continues: "The doctors told us this could help so we agreed for him to go, but we wouldn't be allowed to go with him in the ambulance and would have to follow. But by the time the team got there to transfer him he'd got a lot worse."

"They said he could still go if we wanted him too but that he was more likely to die in the ambulance so we agreed for him to stay at the hospital with us."

As Cole's organs collapsed one by one, Gemma and Rob were faced with the devastating decision of when to turn off their newborn baby's life support machine.

"They said we could leave him on it for 24-48 hours and see how he does, but his organs were failing," says Gemma. "Although it was a hard decision..."

She pauses, and Rob continues: "We both knew the decision - we didn't have to ask each other. We didn't want him to suffer anymore."

"I know some people would say 'keep him alive for as long as you can because it's your baby' but, at the end of the day, there was no point," says Gemma.

"He had morphine being pumped into him and a lot of other drugs. He had so many drugs going into him, there was just no point - we think we did the right thing."

Rob adds: "There was no point prolonging it and just keeping him alive for our sake; you've got to think about him as well. Although they said he didn't know what was going on or anything, he still might have."

Cole's life support machine was turned off on October 9, and Gemma and Rob were able to hold their son for the first time. "He was alive for an hour and 20 minutes after he was taken off the machine," explains Gemma. "The only organ that wasn't damaged by the Strep B was his heart."

After leaving hospital, Gemma and Rob had to explain to Hayden and Preston that their little brother had died. "I think it's hard for them because they never got to see him," says Gemma. "We didn't want them to come to the hospital and see him covered in wires; they've seen the photos now though, even the ones with the wires, and they know who it is as soon as you get the photo out."

The family had to wait four weeks for the post mortem examination to reveal that Cole had died from Strep B before they could hold his funeral.

Speaking about the early days after leaving hospital, Gemma says: "We just wanted to know what it was and if there was anyone to blame for it - it didn't seem real."

"Cole was born on the Thursday, he died on Friday and I was back to doing the school run on the Monday."

Still taking each day as it comes, Gemma and Rob are desperate to warn women of the danger of Strep B during pregnancy, and want pregnant women to ask their midwife to be tested for the infection.

The Strep B support website says that, without medical intervention, GBS can infect around 700 babies each year. Tragically, approximately 75 of those babies will die, and around 40 will be left with serious side effects such as cerebral palsy, deafness, blindness and serious learning difficulties. The 30 per cent of adults who carry GBS do so most commonly in the gut, but up to 25 per cent of women can carry the infection in the vagina too.

"We just want women to be aware," says Gemma, smiling. "I've got a seven-year-old and a three-year-old and I'd never heard of it before."

"You can be tested for it at between 35 and 37 weeks in your pregnancy, but you have to be asked to be tested; it's not routine in this country but it is in places like Canada, America, Australia, Spain and Italy.

"It costs £32 to have the test privately but you can ask your midwife for the test and it will only cost £10. The test is just a swab, it's not invasive, it's not a blood test, there are no needles - it would take a matter of seconds."

"What annoys me the most is that you're not told about it. Strep B is more common than Down's syndrome and just as common as spina bifida and they screen for those, but not this. If women know about Strep B then they can make the decision as to whether or not they want to be tested."

Although still feeling the pain of the loss of their son, Gemma and Rob say that they do hope to have another baby in the future.

Rob says: "Initially we did say no, that was it."

Gemma adds: "But now we know what it is, if I do fall pregnant again I would be tested at the beginning of the pregnancy and at the end, and my labour would have to be in hospital. I'd have antibiotics during the labour even if I didn't have it."

"The antibiotics hopefully stop the baby catching the infection as he or she passes through the birth canal."

Since Cole died, Gemma and Rob have raised money for Hinchbrook's special care baby unit; they handed over a donation to the hospital on New Year's Eve, and Gemma says she will continue to raise money for the unit and Strep B charities.

Getting by the best they can, Gemma and Rob say that Hayden and Preston have been a great comfort over the recent months.

"It still doesn't seem real but the kids definitely help take your mind off things," says Gemma. "We'll always talk about Cole - I've got three children not two."

Bank row continues

A FAMILY fighting for two years to avoid eviction from their home this week made their 18th court appearance in a battle with their bank.

Paul and Nikki Turner, of Linton, won another reprieve at Cambridge County Court when the judge adjourned the hearing until March 2.

The couple claim they are victims of a rogue banker who used to work for HBOS in Reading. They say corruption at the bank led to them losing their record label and music publishing business and is now threatening their home.

Mrs Turner said: "The bank is still in complete denial about what they've done. They're coming up with a million reasons for why we should be evicted but the judge wasn't having any of it."

The Financial Services Authority is undertaking a full investigation.

"In March there will be a short hearing and by that time things will have moved on hopefully. Ideally we'd like it all to go away but in the circumstances this is quite a crucial ruling," Mrs Turner added.

The case will now be heard in six weeks' time.

POLICE want to trace a man who reportedly followed a 12-year-old boy.

The incident happened in Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, between 7.55am and 8am on Wednesday, January 13. Although the man did not speak to the boy or approach him, officers want to speak to him to ask him why he was in the area.

The man is described as white, in his early 20s, of medium build with short dark brown hair and wearing a brown leather jacket.

Anyone with information should call Pc Andrew Green at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Local travel expert predicts holiday hotspots for 2010

Kedington based travel agent, Jennifer Bradnam has reported a host of 'must see' destinations for the New Year as people look to travel to new and exciting places and get the most for their money as they plan their 2010 holiday getaway.

Jennifer who runs her own travel business from home as part of award winning travel company Travel Counsellors, says: "Whether you are looking for cultural sights, adventure or total tranquility and relaxation there is plenty on offer for 2010, with many up and coming and exciting destinations that will allow people to see and experience new sights and sounds across the globe."

For those looking for authentic culture and unspoiled lands Jennifer advises holidaymakers to head for the Caribbean Island of Cuba for what might be their last chance to experience the true culture and magic of the destination, with the possibility of Cuba opening up soon to American tourists. Boasting beautiful colonial Spanish architecture mixed with glorious white sand beaches and the unique Cuban culture, Jennifer really does believe this is a must see place for the New Year.

Another great opportunity for travellers is to sample the beautiful destination of South Africa before this summer's World Cup Jennifer advises people to get there before the crowds do, discovering the cosmopolitan cities, pristine beaches, dramatic mountain ranges, world famous vineyards and of course, the Kruger National Park - South Africa's premier safari destination, and home to the 'Big Five'. However for those footy fans looking to witness the world's most famous sporting event Jennifer says there are a host of special packages on offer at the moment ranging from 5 night breaks to 32 night packages for real die hard fans!

For those looking for an unforgettable cultural experience Jennifer suggests travellers opt for a 'real taste of true India', venturing beyond current tourist hotspots such as Goa and exploring the deserts of Rajasthan, the great national parks and Moghul cities of the North and the age old tea plantations in the Nilgiri mountains, Darjeeling and Tamil Nadu. Jennifer has just returned from a 12 day trip through India and you can read her travel journal on her website www.travelcounsellors.com/jennifer.bradnam Thrilled: Andrew Harrison collects his winnings from Gail Miller, assistant branch manager at Ipswich Building Society in Haverhill.

CP

Cash injection for lucky saver

A BUILDING society customer has won the contents of a giant piggy bank – just after having his swine flu vaccination.

Andrew Harrison, from Haverhill, won the contest run at the town's Ipswich Building Society branch. His guess of the amount in the piggy bank was the closest and he won a total of £208.20 and a replica Perry the Pig.

Mr Harrison has been saving at the branch for 18 months, although his children have had accounts there for six years.

He said: "I've always wanted a proper piggy bank – and by coincidence I've just had my swine flu jab."

Gail Miller, assistant branch manager, said: "I am thrilled the prize has gone to one of our local members, and I hope that Andrew enjoys spending his winnings."

Flu jabs for under-fives

A SWINE flu vaccination programme for under-fives has begun in Cambridgeshire.

Dr Lincoln Sargeant, public health consultant at NHS Cambridgeshire, said: "We would encourage all parents and carers of children under six months and under five years to get their children vaccinated against swine flu. "Children in this age range appear to be especially vulnerable to severe illness as a result of swine flu.

"We have seen significantly higher rates of hospitalisations in this age range compared to other age groups. Vaccination is the best way to protect your child from swine flu.

"Even if your child is healthy it is important to get them vaccinated against swine flu."

Thieves steal boy's bike

A CHILD'S motocross motorcycle has been stolen from a back garden.

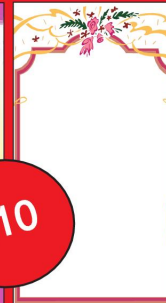

The red Malaguti RCX10 machine was stolen from a garden in Mill Hill, Haverhill, some time between Christmas Day and Monday, January 11.

Anyone with information should call Pc Colin Cox at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Hunchback ready to swing into Haverhill

THE Hunchback of Notre Dame, a somewhat unusual choice of pantomime, brings Haverhill Arts Centre to life for a run of shows.

This panto version of a classic tale takes place in Paris during carnival time in 1400 and is courtesy of the Centre Stage Company.

The plot sees the evil Minister of Justice Claude Frollo attempting to rid Paris of all villagers including the beautiful and vivacious Esmerelda, who has caught the eye of the new Captain of the Guard, Phoebus.

From then on mayhem ensues as the beggars of Paris rise up in rebellion against Frollo led by Clopin, the almost heroic King of the Beggars. Can Quasimodo, who lives at the top of the bell-tower of Notre Dame in the company of two rather questionable gargoyles, save Esmerelda? Can you help him? Oh yes you can!

The show is running from tomorrow until Sunday and then next week from Thursday until Saturday – some performances are sold out. There are matinee and evening performances, but contact the leisure centre for times and availability.

Tickets are £8.50/£7.50/£6.50.

■ Daniel Watt, a familiar name on the UK keyboard circuit, will appear at the arts centre on Tuesday at 7.30pm. Daniel who has appeared with artists such as Franz Lambert and Curt Prina, will ensure a good night is had by all. Haverhill Keyboard Club presents the show and tickets are £7.

■ Directed by the Coen brothers, dark comedy A Serious Man (15) sees Larry as a loving husband and dedicated professor who always does the right thing. But one day, everything starts to go wrong, his wife leaves him and her new lover moves him into a motel. His career is put in jeopardy by false accusations and when his wife's lover dies, she insists that Larry foots the funeral bill! The film is showing on Monday at 7.45pm. Tickets £5/£4.

■ Hilary Swank, Christopher Eccleston and Ewan McGregor star in Amelia (PG) on Wednesday at 7.45pm. This biopic traces the life of famed aviator Amelia Earhart, who made history in 1932 by becoming the first woman ever to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean. Five years later, as she attempted to fly around the world, her plane simply vanished over the Pacific Ocean. Tickets are £5/£4.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Nostalgic night: Gerry Marsden brings the show Gerry Cross The Mersey to Haverhill.

Join Gerry on a trip across the Mersey

MERSEYBEAT lives on at Haverhill Arts Centre with the show Gerry Cross the Mersey on Saturday, February, 13.

Gerry Marsden from Gerry and the Pacemakers recounts his life in one of most iconic bands of the 1960s.

In 1962 Gerry and the Pacemakers were signed by manager Brian Epstein as his second group after the Beatles and were the first act to reach number one in the UK Singles Chart with their first three singles, How Do You Do It?, I Like It and You'll Never Walk Alone (still played before kick-off at Liverpool Football Club).

Ferry Cross the Mersey followed in December 1964.

The show features stories, jokes and anecdotes about Gerry's early beginnings in Liverpool along with his later experiences in West End Musicals with stars such as Anna Neagle and Derek Nimmo.

The evening promises to be a rollercoaster ride of fun, music and nostalgia.

Tickets are £18 and available from the box office call (01440) 714140 or on the website, www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

High-octane concert for the children

CHILDREN'S TV presenter Chris Jarvis (below) is joining forces with the Cambridge Philharmonic Orchestra next week to present a high-octane, fun-filled concert for children of all ages.

The concert programme gets under way with Short Ride in a Fast Machine – a rushing, scary, exhilarating orchestral ride (you'll need your virtual seatbelts for this!). And then, before you have even had a chance to draw breath, it will be time for Three Little Pigs, as re-imagined by master storyteller Roald Dahl.

There's also music from the Harry Potter films, which is bound to thrill anyone who has enjoyed watching Harry, Ron and Hermione battle the forces of darkness, as well as magical excerpts from the music to the TV series Merlin.

For more information, visit www.cam-phil.org.uk

■ Cambridge Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Sunday, January 31 at 2pm and 4pm. Tickets £12 adult, £8 child. Contact: (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk

The big film

UP IN THE AIR (15, 109 mins)
Comedy Drama. George Clooney, Anna Kendrick, Vera Farmiga, Melanie Lynskey, Danny McBride, Jason Bateman, JK Simmons.
Director: Jason Reitman.

UNEMPLOYMENT is no laughing matter... although Up In The Air begs to differ.

Directed by Jason Reitman, whose last film was the universally adored Junio, this portrait of a loveless man, who earns his living by flying around America and making total strangers redundant, hardly sounds like cause for merriment.

However, Reitman's screenplay, adapted from Walter Kirn's novel, navigates a path between the bleak and wryly amusing, helped in no small part by a charming lead performance from George Clooney.

Inevitably, there is some dramatic turbulence during this first class, 108-minute flight but thankfully, all of the main characters remain airborne. Just.

Ryan Bingham (Clooney) spends more than 300 days a year firing people he has never met before because their bosses are too chicken to do the dirty deed.

It's Complicated (15): Daily noon, 2.40pm, 5.20pm, 8pm; Fri, Sat & Wed 10.40pm.

Did You Hear About The

He has to weather tears and tantrums, pleas for a second chance and the occasional threat to commit suicide.

As a result of his demanding work, Ryan has no time for personal commitments.

He doesn't have a girlfriend and has begrudgingly agreed to a request from sister Julie (Lynskey) and her fiancé Jim (McBride) to take photographs with a cardboard standee of the happy couple in far-flung locations.

Ironically, Ryan is threatened with redundancy when efficiency expert Natalie (Kendrick) puts forward a plan to his boss Craig (Bateman) that agents should conduct terminations via video conferencing.

Meanwhile, the usually cool Mr Bingham falls under the spell of fellow jetsetter Alex (Farmiga).

Up In The Air should secure Clooney another Oscar nomination for his mesmerising portrayal of a corporate middleman who is now almost numb to the anguish he wreaks.

Kendrick is a delightful counterpoint as the Little Miss Goody Two Shoes and her relationship with Clooney's debonair mentor is the film's heart and soul.

Look out for signs of cold and snow damage

The heavy snow nationwide is likely to have damaged evergreens, crushed tender shrubs and broken the branches of trees under its weight.

In my own garden, a whole hedge buckled under the weight of snow and ended up drooping over the lawn, so I've had to knock off the snow and prop it up with guide ropes to pull it back into line.

Of course, gardeners can minimise damage by gently knocking snow off shrubs and conifers with a broom, but for some this action may all come too late.

Guy Barter, head of horticultural advice at the Royal Horticultural Society, explains: "Deciduous plants are pretty tough and shouldn't be affected by the snow but it's probably too late to save tender plants which have been left out."

While the roots of established plants in borders may escape being frozen, potted plants which haven't been sheltered in a cool shed or porch, or wrapped in hessian or bubble wrap, will suffer or die if their

by Hannah Stephenson

roots freeze.

Root systems in flower beds and borders can also be damaged when moisture in the ground freezes, then thaws, then freezes again, but the good news is that any carpet of snow actually acts as an insulator to keep the temperature at ground level consistent.

Gardeners who are using salt in their driveways are advised to keep it away from plants and to not walk on their grass while frozen or soggy from the thaw, to minimise damage to the lawn.

"Lawns will still be very wet when the snow has gone so keep off them for a while, and gardeners should only start digging when the soil has dried out a bit," Barter advises.

"When the thaw comes there will be lots of broken stems and branches from the weight of the snow, so gardeners will have to give plants a good trim."

Spring pruning will take care of snapped stems, splits and die-back.

If you're having plants delivered when conditions are still freezing, pot them up and keep them in a cool but sheltered spot such as a frost-free shed, making sure they don't dry out, until the weather improves enough to plant them in the garden.

"We've had a run of mild winters when we have been able to grow tender plants which have survived the cooler months, but in this weather plants such as evergreen agapanthus and phormiums may not survive," he warns.

Once the snow has gone, some shrubs are likely to show signs of cold damage, their leaves will be discoloured, showing patches of brown. All you can do is pick off the damaged foliage and hope that the plant recovers.

Hedges and columnar conifers which have been knocked down by snow can be propped up again with rope but it will have to be left there through spring to allow the shrubs to re-align themselves.

Don't worry too much if your garden looks dishevelled and tired after the snow, because most plants will recover, even those which look like they've had it.

BEST OF THE BUNCH

– Dogwood (Cornus)

These deciduous shrubs are grown for their eye-catching colourful stems which provide useful colour in the winter garden and some are particularly useful in smaller gardens. Cornus alba 'Sibirica' is one of the most popular types, with its vivid red stems, while C. sanguinea 'Midwinter Fire' has orange and pink stems resembling flickering flames. The yellow stemmed C. stolonifera 'Flaviramea' is also extremely effective in winter when grown next to C. alba.

Dogwoods, which grow to around 1.2m x 1.2m (4ft x 4ft), are easy to grow – the only thing you must remember is to prune them hard each spring, cutting out the oldest stems. The new shoots that replace them have the most colourful bark.

They can be planted in most soil, even clay types or along riverbanks, and do best in full sun.

Ford puts it all in Focus

Global standard is theme

THE next-generation Ford Focus made its worldwide debut last week.

The first look at Ford's latest icon came at the North American International Auto Show (NAIAS) in Detroit, providing customers with more affordable technologies and features than ever in this segment, as well as detailed craftsmanship, outstanding fuel economy and a new standard for driving quality.

Both the four-door saloon and five-door hatchback body styles of the next-generation Focus are previewed prior to their production start for Europe and North America late in 2010 and market launch early in 2011.

On show: Redesigned Focus.

The new Focus will be nearly identical in all markets, with 80 per cent parts commonality around the world.

Production of the next-generation Ford Focus will begin simultaneously in Europe and the US later this year, with individual market launches starting early in 2011. Initial production will be concentrated at the Saarlouis (Germany), Michigan (United States) and Chongqing (China) Assembly Plants.

The new Focus will be one of up to 10 unique models to be built from Ford's new C-car platform, which is expected to generate total sales in all regions of two million units annually by 2012. The first of these will be the new Ford C-Max and Ford Grand C-Max – unveiled at the 2009 Frankfurt Motor Show – for launch in Europe in the second half of 2010.

The engaging driver appeal of the new Ford Focus is magnified by a powertrain range that delivers spirited performance and targets outstanding levels of fuel economy and CO2 emissions.

The global powertrain lineup for the new Focus will include a range of state-of-the-art Ford EcoBoost four-cylinder turbocharged direct injection (DI) engines – including the 1.6-litre unit in Europe and a choice of advanced and improved Duratorq TDCi common-rail diesel engines, all of which offer reductions in fuel consumption of between 10 and 20 per cent compared to the outgoing models.

Ford has developed a global DNA standard that defines the exact attributes a part should have to meet the quality requirements of the brand. Examples include the sound the door makes when it is closed, requiring special attention to the door structure and latch mechanism, and the design of a steering wheel, right down to the thickness of padding and size of stitching on the rim.

This meticulous attention to detail is also reflected in Ford's global manufacturing strategy for the Focus, with consistent standards and processes being applied in every one of the assembly plants, wherever they are located in the world.

The new Focus will go on sale in the UK in the first quarter of 2011.

Check out the new Astra!

MURKETTS of Royston is anticipating a surge of interest in the new Vauxhall Astra following the announcement of its 24 Hour Test Drive campaign, intended to lure customers behind the wheel of the smart new hatchback which was launched last December.

And with a range of five petrol and three diesel engines, and a starting price of just £13,294, the new Astra is already set to reinforce its position as one of the most popular cars in its class, says Murketts.

"We are inviting customers to test drive the new Astra for 24 hours and even take it home to show their family. We are confident that the Astra's stunning looks and performance will win over quite a few hearts!" said Murketts sales manager Stewart Lebentz.

The Astra's engine efficiency has improved by over 13 per cent on the outgoing range, meaning that drivers will not only benefit from cleaner emissions but also a reduction fuel costs, VED and Benefit in Kind tax for fleet users. Petrol engines range from an 85bhp 1.4-litre to a 1.6-litre turbocharged unit producing 177bhp, while diesels span from 108 to 157bhp in either 1.7 CDTi or 2.0 CDTi form.

The Astra also offers customers a range of options not normally found in this class. AFL (Adaptive Forward Lighting) offers drivers no less than nine headlight functions that automatically adapt to road conditions, while the addition of FlexRide brings a choice of three suspension settings which drivers can manually control or leave for the car to select automatically.

Murketts will launch the New Astra at The Grand Arcade shopping centre in St Andrews Street, Cambridge tomorrow through to Sunday, January 24 and all are invited to attend. For further information or a test drive contact Murketts Vauxhall on (01763) 226666 or on-line at www.murketts.co.uk.

At Murketts: New Astra.

Improved: New Clio is more frugal.

Renault's Clio eco-friendly

RENAULT'S Clio supermini will become more eco-friendly with the arrival in the UK this summer of a new 86bhp, 1.5-litre diesel version.

With an overall mpg of 76.3 for the combined cycle, it can do more than 900 miles between fill-ups, and this 98g/km CO₂-output model will cost the same – around £12,000 upwards – as similar-engined 115g/km three and five-door versions.

The mpg and CO₂ improvements have been aided by using more efficient tyres and lowering the drag coefficient.

Peugeot gets itself a brand new logo

PEUGEOT has launched a new marque plan, stating its goals for 2015.

- To move up three places in the world car market.
- To establish the Peugeot marque as the benchmark for style.
- To become the leading manufacturer for mobility services.

Peugeot aims to "reaffirm its excellence in its historic heartland – combining style with driving enjoyment and environmental protection". The marque is investing in electric propulsion in the iOn and E-Vivacity scooter from 2010, diesel hybrid in the 3008 from 2011, e-HDi (Stop-Start) on all diesel models from 2011 and plug-in diesel hybrid in 2012.

The firm plans to launch a total of 14 new models worldwide before 2012.

Peugeot: New logo.

Latest show cars hint at a new era of post-oil vehicles

HYBRIDS, all-electric, or hydrogen-fuelled cars are the immediate future of motoring – and new models are popping up thick and fast.

Toyota has just stated that it will be putting no less than eight all-new hybrid-engined cars on to the North American market over the next few years – that's a sizeable figure, and other major motor manufacturers are expected to quickly follow suit.

The Japanese car giant has already said it intends to sell mainstream all-electric vehicles by 2012, and it will have hydrogen-powered motors on the market by 2015.

And Toyota underscored its intentions with the unveiling of a hybrid-powered supermini concept at this month's Detroit Motor Show in America.

Titled the FT-CH – CH stands for compact hybrid – the supermini is 22 inches shorter, and an inch slimmer, than the firm's current best-selling hybrid, the Prius, and it was styled by Toyota designers at its development centre in Nice, France.

Toyota says a production model of the FT-CH will be far more affordable than the Prius, currently deemed an expensive buy, and hopes it will help achieve a global sales target of a million hybrids over the next three or so years.

Peugeot has also come out punching in the hybrid stakes with a stunning sports concept, the SR1. It's more than a dream car transferred from paper to possible production reality – it signifies future styling direction, and comes with a new-look Lion badge.

The SR1 concept employs the same hybrid technology that will be available in the Peugeot 3008 next year – a 218bhp, 1.6-litre petrol engine mated to a rear-mounted 95bhp electric motor. Peugeot claims a combined cycle fuel consumption of 57.7mpg for the SR1, and 119g/km CO₂ output.

Audi sidestepped the hybrid brouhaha at Detroit and instead went down electric avenue with the unveiling of a compact sports car, the e-tron. The all-electric two-seater e-tron is lithe and lightweight, with a 0 to 62mph sprint time of just 5.9 seconds.

The German firm says it has the agility of a go-kart, thanks to its relatively low weight and near-perfect weight distribution, and will be able to do up to 155 miles between charge-ups.

Zero fuel consumption, zero CO₂ emissions, and zero engine noise led Citroën to name its new electric car the C-Zero, which gets a public unveiling at the Brussels, Belgium, Motor Show late in January.

Based on the Mitsubishi i, the 80mph C-Zero can be 80 per cent charged in just 30 minutes, and is earmarked to go on sale in Britain late this autumn. Its city-car length of just 3.48 metres will appeal strongly to drivers who rarely venture beyond town limits, and it can carry four adults along with a modest 166 litres of cargo.

Finally, Honda's new hybrid, the sporty CR-Z, is destined to go on UK sale this summer, and the coupe uses a 1.5-litre petrol engine with its proven electric motor set-up, and can do 56.4mpg overall.

Honda says it is the world's first six-speed manual hybrid car, with nippy driving characteristics making the CR-Z well-suited for use on city streets.

Exhaust emissions are down to just 117g/km, and only European models will get the flexible two-plus-two seating layout.

Prices and fuller details of the CR-Z are due in late spring.

The Citroën C-Zero: Can be 80 per cent charged in just 30 minutes.

Looking to the future: The Honda CR-Z, left – on sale in the summer – and the Toyota FT-CH.

The Amarok: September launch.

The Amarok: Volkswagen's pick-up to offer lots of firsts

VOLKSWAGEN is planning to launch its Amarok pick-up in September.

Amarok, which will be available as a four-door double cab version from launch with a single cab model to follow in 2011, has a payload capacity of up to 1.15 tonnes and maximum towing limit of 2.8 tonnes. Its 2.52 m² cargo area has the largest dimensions in its class at 1,555 mm long and 1,620 mm wide, plus a best in class wheel arches of 1,222 mm, which means that for the first time on a mid-size pick-up, it is possible to load Euro pallets sideways.

The Amarok reflects the latest Volkswagen design DNA with frontal styling in line with the latest Transporter and Golf. Under the bonnet there will be a choice of two 2.0-litre fuel-efficient, Euro5 compliant, common-rail TDI engines producing 160bhp, with torque of 400Nm at a low 1,500rpm, or 120bhp with maximum torque of 340Nm from 2,000rpm. Both engines have a six-speed manual transmission and will have impressive fuel economy with CO₂ emissions of less than 200g/km.

Public Notices

HIGHWAYS AGENCY

HIGHWAYS AGENCY
ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(a) AND PARAGRAPH 27(1) OF SCHEDULE 9 THE A11 AND A14 TRUNK ROADS (CAMBRIDGE TO FELIXSTOWE) (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) VARIATION ORDER 20

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport intends to vary four existing Orders on the A11 and A14 Trunk Roads between Cambridge and Felixstowe, which were made to provide a safe working environment for the workforce and travelling public whilst the installation of variable message signs, foundations and associated ducts, cabling and control cabinet works are carried out.

The Orders to be varied are: -

The A14 Trunk Road (M1 Junction 19, Leicestershire to Exning Interchange, Newmarket, Suffolk) (Temporary Restriction and Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2009

The A14 Trunk Road (Exning Interchange, Newmarket to Dock Gate 1 Roundabout, Felixstowe, Suffolk) (Temporary Restriction and Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2009

The A11 Trunk Road (Waterhall Interchange, Junction 38 to North of B1085 Dane Hill Road, Suffolk) (Temporary Restriction and Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2009

The A11 Trunk Road (Mill Road Junction to A14 Junction 36, Bottisham, Cambridgeshire) (Temporary Restriction and Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2009

The works are expected to continue until October 2010. The Order would come into force on 8 February 2010 and have a maximum duration of eighteen months.

The effect of the Order would be to include additional provisions to allow for the closure of -

- the northbound and southbound carriageways of A11 Trunk Road between points -
 - 50 metres north of its junction with Mill Road, and 50 metres north of the centre point of the A1303 overbridge where the A11 joins the A14 at Junction 36, in Cambridgeshire, and
 - 50 metres south of the centre line of its junction with the entrance to Newmarket RDC Waterworks, near Waterhall Interchange, Junction 32 and 500 metres north of the centre point of the B1085 Dane Hill Road overbridge in Cambridgeshire;
- the eastbound and westbound carriageways of the A14 Trunk Road between -
 - its junction with the western roundabout at the M1/M6/A14 Cattothorpe Interchange (Junction 19), Leicestershire, including the circulatory carriageway of that roundabout and the centre point of the under bridge at the A14/A142 Exning Interchange, Newmarket, Suffolk (Junction 37), and
 - the centre point of the underbridge at the A14/A142 Exning Interchange, Newmarket, Suffolk (Junction 37) and the centre line of the A14/A154 Dock Gate 1 Roundabout, Felixstowe (Junction 62);
- the slip roads leading to and from the lengths of the A11 and A14 Trunk Roads detailed at (a) and (b) above; and
- the lay-bys adjacent to the lengths of the A11 and A14 Trunk Roads detailed at (a) and (b) above;

During the carriageway works slip road, lay-by and carriageway closures would be limited to a section at a time along the route, as and when signed, and when works are taking place on individual slip roads the closures would be restricted to only one slip road within a 10 kilometre stretch of road.

The temporary closures (which would not apply to emergency service, traffic officer or winter service maintenance or works vehicles) would be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works. Please visit our website www.highways.gov.uk for full details of the planned closures and diversion routes in your local area. Alternatively please contact the Project Sponsor responsible for this scheme direct. The contact details are shown at the bottom of this notice.

Public Notices

Hertfordshire County Council

THE HERTFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL (ROYSTON RAILWAY CROSSING)
SUPPLEMENTARY COMPULSORY PURCHASE ORDER 2010
COMPULSORY PURCHASE OF LAND IN THE DISTRICT OF NORTH HERTFORDSHIRE

Notice is hereby given that Hertfordshire County Council has made The Hertfordshire County Council (Royston Railway Crossing) Supplementary Compulsory Purchase Order 2010 under sections 239, 240, 246, 250 and 260 of the Highways Act 1980.

It is about to submit this order to the Secretary of State for Transport for confirmation, and if confirmed, the order will authorise Hertfordshire County Council to purchase compulsorily the land described below for the purpose of:

- constructing a highway which shall be a highway maintainable at public expense; and
- use by the acquiring authority in connection with the construction of the new route as aforesaid.

A copy of the order and of the accompanying map together with supporting documentation may be seen at all reasonable hours at Hertfordshire County Council, County Hall, Pegs Lane, Hertford, SG13 8DN; North Hertfordshire District Council, Council Offices, Gernon Road, Letchworth, SG6 3JF; and Royston Town Council, Town Hall, Melbourn Street, Royston SG8 7DA.

Any objection to the order must be made in writing to the Government Office for the North East, Citygate, Gallowgate, and Newcastle-upon-Tyne, NE1 4QH by 12 February 2010 and should state the title of the order, the grounds of objection and the objector's address and interests in the land.

DESCRIPTION OF LAND

1/43 - 11 square metres of unused land adjacent to the eastern boundary of the track known as Coombes Hole, Royston

REGISTERED NURSE

Part-time 15 hours per week

Huntsman currently has a permanent vacancy for a Registered Nurse, located in the Occupational Health department, reporting to the Occupational Health Specialist. This role is part-time, working 15 hours per week.

The purpose of the role will be predominantly to carry out health screening to support the Occupational Health Specialist in providing a comprehensive Occupational Health Service for all employees in Huntsman and Hexcel.

You will undertake health surveillance and assessments which include: health surveillance for all chemical handlers, security and restaurant staff; tests for specific hazards; and voluntary health assessments. You will be required to provide emergency and routine treatments specific to employees' needs and offer general health information, advice and support to all staff in a confidential environment. You will assist with pre-placement and post sickness absence assessments and deal with routine administration, which includes: booking appointments, filing, checking medical supplies and general upkeep of the department.

The successful person will be a Registered Nurse with demonstrable post registration clinical experience. You will possess exceptional communication and interpersonal skills, be able to make decisions, be self motivated, methodical and be of a caring nature. You will also be able to work to the strictest levels of confidentiality.

Experience in Occupational Health would be an advantage but not essential as training will be given.

In return we offer flexibility with working hours, an excellent benefits package, including a contributory final salary pension scheme, private healthcare, a guaranteed December payment and a non-contractual Incentive Compensation Scheme.

For general enquiries or to obtain an application form please contact Samantha Woolzey in the HR Department on 01223 493196 or by post to Huntsman Advanced Materials (UK) Ltd, Duxford, Cambridge CB22 4XQ. Alternatively email samantha_woolzey@huntsman.com

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

Mail men deliver...

MALCOLM Klinge and Bob Spittle are Haverhill's representatives in the Daily Mail Foursomes. They came out top in the final qualifying round with an impressive 77-11-66. Club president Christopher Briggs and Kim Ward were second with 83-14-69 from Dan Wilkins and Dave Pipe, who were third with 83-13-70.

DANNY Proffitt finished with eight medals and a massive personal best at the Cambridge Open meet as the West Suffolk club continues to make waves.

The fast-improving Proffitt finished the weekend with an impressive five gold medals and three silvers and also sliced 14sec off his personal best when finishing the 400m individual medley in 4min 55.7sec.

The 15 year-old, a recent national qualifier, also produced mature swims in the 400m freestyle (4min 18.1sec), and 200m backstroke (2.17.78).

Twelve-year-old Ashley Trent also illustrated his improving form with personal bests and a number of regional times. He impressed in the 400m individual medley, clocking 5.44.3, and trimmed seven seconds off his personal best in the 200m butterfly.

A dozen more senior swimmers recorded PBs as well as county and regional qualifying times, while several younger swimmers set new bests.

The club now heads into six weeks of hard training for the county and regional championships.

Danny Proffitt: Successful at the Cambridge Open meet.

Wratting Dial up goal to clinch derby points

West Wratting 2 Withersfield 0
Cambridge and District Colts League under-12D
WEST Wratting shook off the effects of their prolonged winter lay-off to win their derby clash. In a fast-paced start, the home side's midfield closed down the Withersfield engine room to give them a foothold and they broke the deadlock when Jesse Lunn pushed forward Liam Gibbs' clearance for Dion Whitrid to score.
The second goal soon followed, Keaton Dial directing Jack Harvey's corner into the net for his first league goal. Withersfield, however, did not give up and Gibbs, Wratting's man of the match, made several timely tackles and keeper James Cutting made a brave late save to ensure a clean sheet.

Castle Camps 3 Milton 1
Cambridge and District Colts League KO Cup, under-11
IT needed a good save from Camps keeper Gage to kickstart his side in their cup tie against Milton. They started to play some neat football but could not break through until Owen Thompson fired them into a two-goal lead, his second goal coming after Camps had missed three good chances. But, after making a few changes for the second half, the home side were rocked by a goal for the visitors. Camps then missed another couple of chances before Kane Robson put the game beyond Milton with the third goal.

The Rover returns

NEIL Cogger has returned to Haverhill Rovers to give the team a much-needed boost in attack as they prepare to take on high-flying Stanway Rovers on Saturday.

Peter Betts was delighted to have the 30-year-old forward back in the line-up and expects him to play a part in the home Ridgeons League Premier Division game.

"We've signed Neil again and that has given everyone a big lift," he said. "He stopped playing because of work commitments, but now he's come back to us and that's great news. He's probably our best player and a real fans' favourite."

"He'll give us more competition for places up front and bring some good quality and experience to the side."

Betts knows his team will

Neil Cogger: Return

have their work cut out against Stanway but, having seen his side earn a point in the away fixture, remains hopeful.

"If we can get a point I'll be delighted," he said. "We've got two very tough games coming up with Stanway and Kirkley & Pakefield both in the top
